A Brand-New

ME

How I gained insight on life, happiness and the meaning of beauty—all while losing 50 pounds. I hope my story inspires you as well.

Andrea

Mission Viejo, California

I USED TO LIVE IN TENNESSEE,

the home of everything battered and fried. I was young, but my blood pressure had crept up, and I was getting headaches. I couldn't fit into my clothes. At my heaviest, I was 200 pounds, and a size 18. I felt unhappy and limited.

ENOUGH'S ENOUGH

The breaking point came when my husband was traveling and I felt like everything was slipping out of control. I started crying, and I don't do that. And then a commercial came on TV for a new gym in my town. I didn't even get the address. I just drove up and down the road until I found it.

LEARNING TO ADAPT

I knew the first step was to get myself healthy. I felt like I was gaining control of my life for the first time. In the beginning, the hardest thing was staying strong, because I used to go to breakfast and lunch with my friends—we ate all the time. And I had to tell them, "Sorry, I can't come. I have to go work out."

Sometimes people would tease me when I'd skip certain foods or take small portions. But I knew I was getting healthy, and that was the most important thing, so I held on to that. I'd say something like, "You're making your choices, and I'm making mine."

I wish I had known I could seek out a person or group to support me. There are so many resources now, whether locally or online. There's no reason for anyone to feel like they have to go it alone.

GAME PLAN

I exercised five days a week for an hour. Three of those days included strength training, and the rest were cardio. It was hard to work through muscle soreness and fatigue at first. I'd tell myself, "This is temporary. It'll go away and you'll get stronger." I exercise about the same amount as when I started, but now my workouts are more intense.

Unlike past diets, I didn't restrict myself—I just ate healthy food. I never once felt hungry, and that made the difference this time. I drink a meal replacement shake every day. It's a fruit and veggie blend, full of carbohydrates and protein. It's amazing.

I love sweets, which can be a slippery slope. But now I know how it feels to not have bad food in my system. My body works better.

INNER AND OUTER BEAUTY

When someone is confident and happy inside, that's more important than how she looks. I started because I didn't like how I felt—and to be honest, I wanted to be thin and athletic. That helped get me down this path of learning to love myself. Now I feel happy and confident. I've had three kids, and my stretch marks and loose skin used to bother me to no end. But they don't anymore—I no longer focus on my insecurities.

MY ADVICE FOR YOU

A lifestyle change takes time. Be patient and enjoy yourself. To be present with your family and be a better mom, wife or person, you have to take some time to be healthy. Don't feel guilty for taking an hour out of the day to take care of yourself. And if you can find something you enjoy, you'll be healthy for the rest of your life.

PROS of PROBIOTICS

WHAT ARE THEY? Simply put, probiotics are "friendly" bacteria that help maintain digestive health and support immune system function.

WHAT ARE THEY GOOD FOR? They've been shown to help with a variety of health concerns, including irritable bowel syndrome, high blood pressure, diarrhea and lactose intolerance, according to clinical trials and studies.

WHO CAN USE THEM? While probiotics are considered to be generally safe, those with an illness or a compromised immune system should get a physician's approval before using them.

How can I get help with seasonal allergies?

Seasonal allergies are caused by such irritants as pollen, pet dander, dust or mold. Look for a product that contains a non-drowsy antihistamine, like loratadine (Wal-Itin®), fexofenadine (Wal-Fex®) or cetirizine (Wal-Zyr™). If you still have symptoms, your doctor can prescribe other medications.

Do I have allergies or pink eye?

These two conditions are commonly confused—they both result in red, irritated and itchy eyes. But pink eye usually causes increased fluid production that is less watery and has more of a pus-like consistency. It's caused by either a bacterial or viral infection. If the cause of the infection is bacterial, then topical antibiotics are the treatment of choice. The condition is usually painless—but it's extremely contagious. Avoid touching your eyes and wash your hands frequently.

What if allergies are making my eyes itchy?

If your eye condition is caused by allergies, common symptoms are red, itchy eyes and an increase in fluid production that's watery. Use topical products like eye drops, antihistamines and anti-inflammatory agents to alleviate your symptoms.

Walgreens brand over-the-counter drugs work the same as their name-brand counterparts.

They contain the same active ingredients, have the same efficacy and follow the same regulations.

I recommend Walgreens brands for my patients, especially those who take medications year-round. The savings can really add up.

Most people can treat their allergy symptoms with non-drowsy antihistamines sold over the counter, such as Walgreens Wal-Itin® (compare to Claritin®), Wal-Zyr™ (compare to Zyrtec®) and Wal-Fex™ (compare to Allegra®). You may find one in particular works best for you, but each person is different. If you're still experiencing symptoms like congestion or stuffiness, these antihistamines are available behind the pharmacy counter combined with a decongestant. Look for a "D" at the end of the product name, or ask your Walgreens pharmacist.

WHAT'S BEST for BABY

DO consider store-brand formula. Store brands offer the same nutritional value—and can cost half as much as name-brand products.

DON'T "stretch" formula by adding more water. The practice can be dangerous because babies' kidneys cannot eliminate the water. Plus, babies will receive fewer nutrients.

DO feel free to switch formulas. Research shows that babies do not suffer any adverse effects from changing between different brands.

DON'T ignore the benefits of organic baby food. Organics reduce the risk of pesticide intake and may contain more nutrients.

DO give babies food that's thoroughly puréed. They can choke on food with chunks in it.

DON'T give babies and young children over-the-counter cold or cough medicine. Instead, use a bulb syringe to clear their nose, and keep them in an upright position. A cool mist in the room will also help soothe a cough.

DO try fever-reducing medication such as ibuprofen or acetaminophen, though ibuprofen is not advised for children younger than 6 months.

DON'T shy away from store-brand medicine. It will contain the same active ingredients and is just as effective.

DO try chewables. Children can have chewable tablets around age 2, once they have teeth. You might find they're an easier way to get kids to take their medicine.

Dr. Lisa Thornton, a pediatrician, frequent morning show guest expert and mother, offers advice to parents.

DON'T think that more medicine is better. You should always follow the guidelines exactly.

DO hide medication inside food if necessary. Consider putting it in a baby's bottle or stirring it into some applesauce.

Moms!

Alison Sweeney's SIMPLE STEPS TO A HEALTHY SUMMER

BE ACTIVE. I try for a variety of activities to avoid an exercise rut. Find a few simple exercises you enjoy, even if it's just a walk around the block, and make them part of your daily routine all summer long.

WEAR SUNSCREEN. Once I found a sunscreen I liked, I bought several bottles—for the house, the car, anywhere I go—to make sure I always have some on hand.

EAT FRESH. Try different fruits and vegetables and find the ones you love (for me, it's strawberries and blueberries).

STAY HYDRATED. Doctors generally recommend we drink at least 64 ounces (about eight glasses) of water each day. I have a favorite water bottle that I take almost everywhere and refill wherever I can.

PACK SMART. When you're on the road, bring a healthy lunch and snacks to enjoy, and make sure you pack light clothes and the appropriate shoes for a little physical activity wherever you go.

WALGREENS SUNSCREENS
are BROAD-SPECTRUM, protecting you from both UVA and UVB rays.

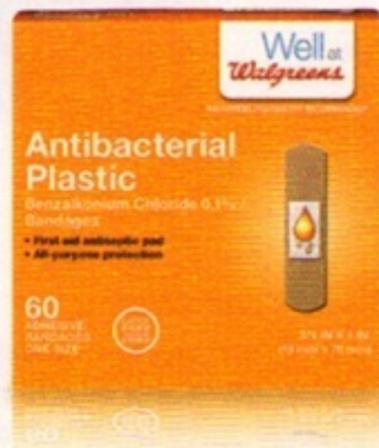

That way, you'll help keep your skin healthy—without hiding from the sun.

UVA are the sun's rays you come in contact with most frequently. They have longer wavelengths that penetrate the middle layer of your skin and lead to tans instead of burns. Even though UVA rays can increase the rate of melanoma over time, many sunscreens don't protect against them.

UVB are the rays responsible for sunburn. Their shorter wavelengths do damage to the outer layer of your skin. Prolonged exposure to UVB rays is the primary culprit of skin cancer.

Wilde at HEART

Olivia's hair color shade is LIGHT GOLDEN
BROWN 54G

Olivia Wilde, star of House and The Incredible Burt Wonderstone, shares her beauty secrets.

How do you use beauty to express yourself?

I think everyone should celebrate inner beauty and have fun with the canvas that is our faces and bodies. I've enjoyed learning about the world of beauty and how to have fun with makeup, hair products and fashion. For me, it's all about self-expression; it's not about trying to match a certain standard of beauty.

What's your one desert island beauty product you can't live without?

I cannot live without eyeliner—I love the Revlon® ColorStay™ Crème Gel Eye Liner. It's easy to use and stays on all day long!

What products do you look forward to breaking out of your makeup bag every spring?

Definitely fun colors of lipstick, like those in Revlon®'s ColorStay Ultimate Suede™ lipstick line. There are so many shades to choose from that you can change up your colors based on the season.

What beauty products do you always use to get ready for a big event?

I tend to wear heavier eye makeup, so it would have to be eye shadow, a good liner (gel or liquid) and mascara. And a great lip color!

You're often changing your hair color for film roles. Do you prefer being blonde, brunette or redhead?

I've done quite a few colors and had fun with all of them! But my favorite has been brunette, a little darker than my natural hair color. It's a very warm shade. One thing I love about being a brunette is that people don't expect you to be as much fun because they've always heard about the blondes!

What advice would you give to a woman who wants to change up her look?

Be honest with yourself about what actually makes you feel good, what you are comfortable with—and that will make you feel beautiful. Then, why not play with makeup and hair color?

What's your favorite part of being a Revlon® Brand Ambassador?

I think Revlon® does a great job embracing who we are as women and encouraging us to have fun with beauty. They are not about creating a mask with makeup but triggering inner confidence through beauty. It is really an optimistic stance on the world of beauty.

PRESENTS
Fergie

Created in partnership with global pop icon Fergie, this exclusive collection reflects her versatility—from glam to hip to edgy. Fergie shares her perspective on style, passion and her new line of color cosmetics.

KNOW WHAT YOU WANT TO STAND FOR: To be successful, you have to have a point of view that is distinct. With the Fergie Center Stage Collection, I've created a high-fashion, high-performance line that reflects my unique style, with products made for the spotlight, the runway, the glamorous life.

COLOR IS QUEEN: Color is central to my look and my line. Yes, we all need some neutrals—but this is about beauty and self-expression, and color reflects our lives, and all its joys and passions. That is why the Fergie Center Stage Collection is made up of bold, compelling shades. We used the richest, most vibrant pigments we could find to create these bold colors. And using this quality of pigment not only makes for astounding shades of nail polishes, eyeshadows and lipsticks, it improves the products' wear.

DON'T FORGET "PURSE APPEAL": For me, the ultimate compliment is when a woman pulls one of my products out of her purse and takes pride in showing off the

SUMMER BEAUTY heats up

I'm going to a wedding. How can I look fab?

A glamorous look doesn't have to mean spending big bucks at the salon. Give yourself a home manicure and finish your look with a colorful accent, like Studio 35 Beauty™ 3D Nail Appliqués. For flawless makeup application, try Studio 35 Beauty™ Professional Face Brushes. And finish your look with a sleek, DIY hairstyle like a sock bun, waterfall braid or voluminous ponytail. (To learn how to execute these looks, visit our Happy and Healthy blog at Walgreens.com/HHB.) Voilà—a fabulous new look, all done at home.

How can I apply self-tanner without streaks or looking orange?

Choose a self-tanner that's only about two shades darker than your natural skin tone. Before applying a bronzer like the ones from Studio 35 Beauty™, exfoliate all over for smooth skin, focusing especially on elbows and knees—self-tanner develops more deeply on rough or dry areas. Once your skin is dry, apply the bronzer like body lotion. To prevent streaking, rub a damp washcloth over tricky spots, including your feet, ankles, elbows and knees. Finally, wash your hands thoroughly to avoid orange palms.

gorgeous packaging, sharing with her friends how good it feels in her hand. We've focused on the smallest of details, from the curve of the compact to the weight of each product, to ensure that critical "oooooh" moment.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH: There is an amazing team of creative directors and makeup artists who work with me on my line. But if you are putting your name on it, you have to put your spin on it, and for me that comes through clearest in the shade names. Each means something to me, from where I've come from to the people who were with me on the way, to where I want to go.

TRICKS OF THE TRADE: From my experience on stage and on the runway, I've gathered a stash of tips and tricks for creating fabulous looks—and I relish the opportunity to share those with others. So I've put together some of my favorites on the web. You can scan the QR code on this page or on the fixture in store and get tips and tricks on application. I hope you use these as a launching point for creating your own style, and feel free to share your look with us on the wet n wild® Facebook page. The products for my current favorite look are pictured.

How do I keep makeup from sweating off?

You'll want to start with fresh, clean skin. Try Studio 35 Beauty™ Cucumber Peel-Off Mask—the cucumber extract helps keep your skin silky and smooth. Next, apply an oil-free SPF moisturizing lotion. The lightweight formula won't clog pores, allowing your skin to "breathe" despite the heat. Finally, try a primer, which absorbs extra oil so your skin stays shine-free and fresh-looking all day. You can wear the primer by itself or under a matte foundation—whichever you prefer.
